

Lawn Development Program

After-care

All our lawns are professionally installed; however, once an installation is complete a certain amount of care is necessary for the installation to be successful whether your lawn was installed with seed or sod.

Seeded lawn care

A new seeded lawn installation is essentially just a seed installation, the lawn must grow in and develop. New seeded lawns may take one to two years to become fully established. It takes sod growers 18 to 24 months to create lush turf ready for harvest and installation. A seed lawn installation is similar in that it takes time to develop. While a newly seeded lawn is ready for its first cut two to three weeks after planting, it isn't established enough to be thick, drought resistant and weed free until after a year.

Sod lawn care

A sod lawn requires continuing care to ensure the successful transition from the sod farm field to your landscape. Your new sod lawn is not very forgiving during early establishment, particularly during warmer, drier times of year. Once the sod is rooted, continuing care offered in the Lawn Development Program will provide necessary services to ensure your lawn becomes established.

Your role in lawn care

You will need to do your part to make sure your sod or seed lawn establishes properly. Our after care information on how to care for your new lawn and the watering requirements will provide guidelines on what you need to do.

You may choose to handle the necessary maintenance to get your lawn established or you can enroll in our Lawn Development Program to guarantee that your installation will be successful.
